Chairs Report	During this session of the Community Council the CC was convened or chaired by Paul Bulmer and also by myself as vice-chair, and I report here as the present convener. We had up to seven councillors during the year, including Danuta Steedman, Clare Banner, Kate McEwen and David Munro. All four of whom stood down before the elections in late 2023. So, given that we haven't had a chance to say this at an AGM before, on behalf of the CC and the community I thank them for their service, particularly during lock-down. During the year in question there were several themes: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> a. Getting back to normal. By mid-2022 we were back to in-person meetings and standing down much of the voluntary effort of the Resilience Group aimed at supporting members of the community through food boxes etc. The partnership between local organisations was a particularly important aspect of the COVID activity, and has continued, not least through continued prescription runs, the creation of covered outdoor spaces and a closer cooperation between CC, DT, and the village halls. b. And as we came back to normality, one of our first tasks was to support the community through the first Mull rally event, providing detailed feedback to the organisers over the months after that initial event. The recommendations the community council were able to make were implemented in good part, particularly around ensuring notifications, consultation and commercial opportunities. While the date of the event has not been moved due to the overall rally calendar, the reconnaissance period has been much more carefully managed and the second event received only one or two minor complaints. The rally also occasioned improvements of the surface of the West Road by the Council, and the CC hopes similar benefits will accrue to the Old Coast Road in Colintraive. c. This was also the year that Argyll & Bute council began their consultation on the Collective Leadership Model for education and the Community Council supported the parent council throughout that process, again showing how cooperation between different groups in ColGlen can bear substantive fruit. d. The other major interaction with the council, via Alan Reid, our councillor at the time, was over the quality of the roads, ongoing problems with surface deterioration, the land slip on the leanachd and potential speed limits through the middle of Glendaruel. This work, like all of the other routine matters the CC tackles continued unabated despite
